
Dry skin on eyes

Posted by Steveyboy - 2008/02/25 14:34

I was wondering if anyone could think of any reason why in the last year or so I have started getting really dry and painful eyelids. It feels like they have been sunburned but usually doesn't kick in until late in the day.

Any ideas would be appreciated.

Hi,

Have you looked at the information in the dermatology section of the treatments area?

you might find some sites in there that have some useful information.
